

Computer Science and Information Technology Book (CIB) Project

CIB Project

CIB Project was initiated in December, 2000. This project is linked to studies in Computer Science and Information Technology. The project yields Problem-Oriented Books as well as Lecture Notes in Computer Science and Information Technology. Many books (derived books) are also being produced from the basic books. Some derived books are named below.

- Mathematics for Computer Science and Information Technology
- GATE - Computer Science and Information Technology
- Elements of Software Systems
- Full Stack Web Development with MySQL

Every student in Computer Science and Information Technology finds the project interesting and helpful.